ITINERARY

On 6th June, the team began the trip to visit all ten schools at 7am. The schools were ten to fifteen minutes apart. The schools could not be grouped together because of logistic difficulties thus the need to visit each school.

At every school, the students were grouped together addressed then the girls from classes 5 to 8 were taken aside and spoken to about using sanitary towels, hygiene and given pep talks on following their ambitions. The boys were also grouped differently and given motivational talks. They were also sensitized on the need to be more considerate of the girls when they begin their menstruation.

The team visited the last school, Gidea Secondary school at 6pm.

CHALLENGES

It had rained in Kwanza the past few days. The roads were impassable most times and a lot of time was lost trying to navigate the roads in order to get from one school to another.

RECOMMENDATIONS

There is need for more Sanitary Bank Campaign ambassadors and advocates. During our last visit, we had the pleasure of having musician Femi One, Miss Earth Kenya and Radio presenter, Cate Rira who talked to the girls and encouraged them.

CONCLUSION

The Kwanza, Trans Nzoia County trip was a success and a great addition to the mission which is to reach 100,000 girls in this year alone. Through this visit we were able to impact 2000 girls, and reserve their right to education by ensuring that none of them missed school, because of menstruation.
